

The deeper one sees the imagination of oneness within, the deeper one sees oneness without. Within peace is not dependent on without peace; lead by vision and others will see... "join us" "Outside peace is naturally dependent on within peace Deeper than imagination is awareness; awareness IS for imagination and all else, refine awareness to be unbroken.

If our awareness only sees division and separations to be solved and fixed (the divisions of life is directly for the broken focus [isn't it beyond amazing that this singular statement carries the meaning of life via these simplest of objects of meaning which are all but seen in the universe in which we have each of us created for ourselves], hence meaning of life is broken!.. as in not meaningful! The deeper continuity of focus the directly increased coherency in meaning of life!) by further concepts on top of concepts which; divide the sight of awareness... there can never be a solution, but more misery! Unbroken awareness is oneness, ... and then [sight] of oneness is real. Broken awareness sees the world as broken – less thoughts allow deeper comprehension of existence. Meditation practice infinitely more important than any other 'activity'! ... for infinity of Self is unlocked with an unbroken focus.
